Great Play and Fine Company.

In spite of the rain and the fact that last night's was the fifth performance in Richmond this season of "A Gentleman from Mississippi." about half a house welcomed the return of that charming old gentleman and the same company by which he was surrounded when he delighted the town in September.

Drama, comedy, comedy-drama, play, or whatever it may be called, it is just about perfect. Clean clever and witty, it is at the same time strong, interesting and thoroughly alive, perfectly possible. What "The Man of the Hour" is to municipal politics this play is to the scheming and intriguing of dishonest men at Washington. No heroics, no cigarette-smoking villain, no persecuted heroine, but just a few threads of a love story, and the rest of it a story of modern life, dealing with business and politics and men, so well and skilfully written and played that the whole thing seems simply to work itself out naturally. Full of good situations, lines that are clever and yet mean something. lines that stick in one's memory, and the best kind of comedy-comedy clean and pure. And the old gentleman himself, the Senator from Mississippi, with his gentle humor, sound sense and stern integrity, is the most lovable old fellow that ever a playwright drew.

The company is, with the exception of one minor part, identically the same that appeared here in September—an excellent company, thoroughly competent. They all deserve mention, but it is Robert Fisher, as the Senator from Mississipni, with his gentle humor, sound sense and stern integrity, is the most lovable old fellow that ever a playwright drew.

The company is, with the exception of one minor part, identically the same excellent company, thoroughly competent, They all deserve mention, but it is Robert Fisher, as the Senator from Mississippi, who really "carries" the play, and, again, it is hard to write temperately of him. Suffice it to say that his work is beyond criticism; he did not act the part, he was the Senator from Mississippi. If Thomas A. Wise, who originated the part, was one whit better than Mr. Fisher, he must indeed be a genius, even though he is one of the authors of the piece.

The time for the public hearing having expired, the committee went into exceutive session. Only a few minutes elapsed before the committee rose, having decided without a dissenting vote or report the bill to the House.

Unionists, 21; Liberals, 19; Laborites, 3; Nationalists, 1. Unionist gains, 12; Liberal gains, 1.

The standing of the parties at the conclusion of to-day's polling was as follows:
Unionists, 120; Liberals, 98; Laborites, 20; Nationalists, 23, Total gains-Unionists, 51; Liberals, 13; Laborites, 1.

The Unionists had decidedly the better of the elections held to-day, Of 44 seats contested they won 21, of which 12 were represented by Ministerialists in the last Parliament. The only consolation for the Liberals was in the success obtained in the Bermondsey division of Southwark, where the government candidate, H. J. Glanville, recaused by three-connected contests, the intervention of & Labor or Socialist candidate precluding the success of the government supporters.

Several of the Liberal losses were caused by three-connected contests, the intervention of & Labor or Socialist candidate precluding the success of the government supporters.

They hold that he is making every possible effort to obtain the favor of the United States, and to this end would go to any length, even to the sacrifice of his late friends, to improve his standing with this country. His ultimate object, it is declared, is to secure the recognition of his government, and if he deems it necessary it is not questioned that he will see to it that Zelaya is returned to Nicaragua to stand his trial for complicity in the deaths of the Americans.

Bride Is Washington Girl, and Ceremony Quietly, Performed in Baltimore,

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Baltimore, Md., January 18.—Joseph J. Ryan, son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, one of New York City's best known financiers and multi-millionaire, was married to Miss Nannie Morse, of Washington, by Bishop O. B. Corrigan at St. Gregory's Catholic Church, in this city, to-day, The marriage Ilcense was taken out at the office of the clerk of the Court of Common Please by Mary Scanlan, whose address was given as West End, Va.

It had evidently been the desire of Mr. and Mrs. Ryan to slip in to Baltimore and be married without the matter being given any publicity. Mr. Ryan is twenty-one years old, and is the son of one of Wall Street's most famous figures.

The clder Ryan was born in Virginia, and began his business life in this city, engaging himself to a local dry goods house in 1868. His work in this city was short, however, and he entered the more remunerative Wall Street field two years later.

Cannon's emphatic statement to the contrary, to be tacitly accepted by both friends and foes of the Iron Duke that he will not be a candidate for the office of Speaker in the next Congress. He may remain in the House, but if he does, so the opinion seems to say, it will be as a private in the ranks. Some of his friends are even citing precedents to show that a man has stepped out of the Speaker's chair and still continued to serve his party on the floor of the House.

Program Mapped Out.

The statement was made to-day by a Winston-Salern, N. C., January 18 .-A committee has been chosen to select still continued to serve his party on the floor of the House.

Program Mapped Out.

The statement was made to-day by a leading member of the Minnesota delegation that the next fight for the speakership would be waged by Republicans from the Middle West and a combination of Republicans representing the East and the Pacific coast.

Inquiry discloses the apparentity well-established fact that more than a year ago Mr. Cannon had made up his mind to retire from the speakership, He had selected as his successor Representative James S. Sherman, of New York, who later was nominated and elected Wive-President on the ticket with William H. Taft.

Mr. Cannon's second choice was James E. Watson, of Indiana, who retired from Congress to make the race for Governor in Indiana, and was defeated. Mr. Cannon's present choice is said to be Representative James A. Tawney, of Minnesota. Certainly no member of the House stands closer to the Speaker, or is on more intimate will be a score or more of candidates.
